Walton Refused Stay of 10 Days in Impeachment Trial

Case Delayed Until This Afternoon on Motion of Gov. O'Connor's Counsel.

EXECUTIVE SEEMS WORN

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1.—The hearing of charges against Governor Jack Walton was postponed until 1:30 P. M. when the state senate assembled as a court of impeachment.

By United Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—The hearing of charges against Governor Jack Walton was postponed until 1:30 P. M. when the state senate assembled as a court of impeachment.

The recess was taken on request of attorneys for Walton. They asked a postponement of 10 days but the senate voted the governor should make his plea this afternoon.

Oklahoma City made a holiday out of the impeachment trial. More than 1,000 circus seats were installed in the senate chamber to accommodate the crowds.

Governor Walton, accompanied by a staff of six attorneys, appeared on the senate floor shortly after 1 o'clock. The governor's face was deeply lined and he appeared worn and tired.

A sudden hush fell as the governor and his staff walked up the aisle. Simultaneously members of the prosecuting board of managers entered by another door and filed to the bar of the senate.

J. T. Johnson, chief justice of the supreme court, took the bench and called the senate into impeachment session.

U. S. and England Agree on Extension of Three-Mile Limit

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—A recommendation for more funds to provide ships and money to block the activities of rum runners off the American coast probably will be made to the next congress as a result of the virtual agreement between the American and British governments for a treaty on the liquor question. It was said on high authority at the treasury department today. This authority said the United States is not ready yet to take full advantage of the treaty to be drawn between Washington and London. This treaty is to provide:

First—That the regular three-mile limit at sea is to be extended to 12 miles to permit the United States to combat rum smugglers, but the United States is to reaffirm the three-mile limit for general purposes.

Two—That British ships will be permitted to bring liquor under seal into American waters, despite the Supreme court ruling prohibiting this.

This government cannot say "yes" to the full benefit of the treaty until it is concluded because of a lack of sufficient revenue cutters. There have been informal recommendations in the treasury for increase in ships and personnel in the coast guard to combat rum runners but they have not taken the form of a definite application from the treasury.

Canada Winner Of Schooner Cup

By United Press.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 1.—Canada retained the International Schooner Cup trophy. The Nova Scotia schooner Blue Nose, defender of the cup, defeated the Yankee challenger Columbia today in the second and deciding race of the annual regatta.

In a stiff breeze that at times reached a velocity of 30 knots, the champion of the North Atlantic sailing fleet kept ahead of the Columbia throughout most of the race, but they were not taken the form of a definite application from the treasury.

No Little Leaves Hospital.

Miss Flo Little of Philadelphia, formerly of Connellsville, has been discharged from the Homeopathic Hospital, Philadelphia, where she underwent an operation, according to word received here.

Club Woman Dies

Mrs. A. P. Cameron, 55 years old, former president of the Westminster County Congress of Women's Clubs, died suddenly Tuesday night at her home at Irwin.

11,000 HARD COAL MINERS GO ON STRIKE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—An outflow general strike of all miners employed by the Pennsylvania Coal Company in this district went into effect this morning.

Early reports indicated that practically all of the 11,000 men at the 10 collieries walked out in spite of the plea of district officials of the United Mine Workers that they remain at work and try to adjust their difficulties.

Salute to Flag In County Schools Will Be Required

Love of country and respect for the Stars and Stripes is to be more thoroughly inculcated in the boys and girls of Fayette county through action taken by the Fayette County School Directors Association this morning at the annual session in Uniontown.

The association pledged itself to furthering the work of Americanization among the foreign born of the county.

The annual luncheon of the association was held at noon today at the Third Presbyterian Church at which Dr. J. George Becht, state superintendent of public instruction, Harrisburg, was the principal speaker, making a 20 minute talk.

Following the luncheon, the directors as a body, planned to attend the afternoon session of the teachers institute at the West End Theatre.

BODY OF MAN SHOT THROUGH CHEST IS FOUND AT SCOTSDALE

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 1.—The body of a man, thought to be Caesar Longo, was found lying in the road at Kiefer town this morning by men who were on their way to work. He had been shot through the chest.

The Scottdale police were notified and the body was removed to the funeral parlors of William Ferguson.

The only means of identification found on the man's person was an envelope bearing the name of Caesar Longo. The man is thought to be an Italian and is between 40 and 50 years old. He is short and of medium weight.

After the body had been found persons at Kiefer town stated they had heard shots fired about 11 o'clock last night.

A number of persons have viewed the body but at noon today it had not been identified.

Officers Blamed Destroyer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The officers of the destroyer USS Delphic, which is being destroyed by the enemy, are being blamed for the destruction of the ship.

The Delphic was a destroyer of the Delphic class, which was built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. It was launched on May 1, 1918, and was commissioned on June 1, 1918.

The Delphic was assigned to the 1st Fleet and was operating off the coast of Japan when it was destroyed by the enemy on October 25, 1922.

LADIES NIGHT AT KIWANIS SUCCESS IN EVERY FEATURE

Wholesalers of the Club Provide Pleasing Program of Entertainment.

"LOYD GEORGE" A GUEST

Carefully planned as to detail, especially in every respect and the features presented in a most clever manner, "Ladies Night" at the Kiwanis Club last evening easily became one of the big successes of this organization in the past of interest, entertainment and good-fellowship.

The wholesalers of the club, including P. E. Koelker, Lawrence Cuneo and John Miller, were responsible for these results and the recipients of many very hearty congratulations.

Mr. Koelker, as presiding officer for the evening, had charge of the program which included a series of features which made a strong appeal to the members of the club and their wives and other guests. There was a most interesting and moving moment when Chairman Koelker began the announcement of the numbers on the program. Music occupied a prominent place, well known vocal selections, introduced by a vocal selection by Miss Katherine McClintock, accompanied by Miss Pearl Keck. There followed at intervals selections by Katherine's orchestra, Mrs. George Sant, Mrs. W. A. Edmonson, and Mrs. W. A. Edmonson.

DEFEAT OF BOND ISSUE WILL BE BLOW TO RURAL SECTIONS

Will Halt Road Work in the State for Five Years, Former Lieutenant Governor Points Out.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—John M. Reynolds of Bedford, former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, urged Pennsylvania to vote next Thursday for the $50,000,000 road bond issue. He said:

"The voter who fails to vote 'Yes' for the $50,000,000 road bond issue next Tuesday will deeply regret his action. Every voter to the point should, therefore, be the rallying cry at this late moment. Those who do not vote will be blamed with the opposition. Those who vote 'Yes' will have the satisfaction of standing with those who are opposed to laying the improvement of the remaining 50,000 miles of state highway, so urgently needed to do justice alike to every section of the State.

"Shall we halt this work for ten years longer, which is ultimately bound to be finished?

"To do so means a telling blow to rural Pennsylvania. It means the State which took the lead among all the states in road construction, following the bond issue of 1915, will fall behind in the march of progress and in meeting the demands of the hour.

"In the creation of this day there will be a hundred fold return to the people at large in economy, in comfort and in the joy of living and of those new conditions, which have demanded, we are told, an automobile to every nine inhabitants, and a registered passenger car for one out of every two families in the State. The times demand the loan, and our people must be faithful to their best interests in voting their approval."

SUPT. BECHT URGES STUDENTS TO EAT APPLES EVERY DAY

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—The stimulation of health, vigor and stamina in each of the 1,800,000 school boys and girls in Pennsylvania, through the eating of at least one apple a day, is the primary thought expressed by Dr. J. George Becht, superintendent of the State Department of Public Instruction, in a statement made today endorsing the seasonal apple week of Apple Week, now being observed in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Becht characterizes the apple as "The King of Fruits" and urges that children be provided with an abundant supply of this wholesome food.

County Has a Sinking Fund Nearly Half Million Bearing Four Per cent Interest

Democratic Propaganda Discredited by Report of Controller Huston.

Nearly half a million dollars of Fayette county funds are on deposit in Fayette county banking institutions as a sinking fund for the retirement of all outstanding bond issues of the county. Established in 1921, this fund is being maintained at sufficient point to meet the bonds as they mature, the first of which will be called in for payment in 1926. This fund is on interest at 4 per cent. The report of Controller Earl Huston for the current year shows that balance on hand in the sinking fund account is $449,645.76.

This effectively dispels propaganda being circulated by the Democratic candidates that there is no sinking fund. As a matter of fact, this fund is absolutely up to date and the county is getting four per cent interest on every dollar in the fund. These figures are contained in the annual report recently issued by Controller Huston and sworn to by him. The report was published in newspapers of the county and may be had in pamphlet form from the county controller's office.

Propaganda of misinformation is getting members with the voters, however, for reports received at Republican county headquarters show that the entire ticket is gaining strength every day and the question now is the record majority which will be rolled up by the Republican candidates.

Presenting a ticket of strong, efficient, able men and conducting a campaign clear from misinformation, the Republican party this year is meeting with untold support from every section of the county.

Controller Earl Huston, a candidate for re-election, commends himself to the voters of the county by the efficient and capable administration of his office during the term just closing.

He served eight years as deputy controller prior to his election as controller four years ago. Mr. Huston was born and reared on a farm in German township, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Huston, residing on the farm near McConnellsburg. In the same home in which they have lived for the past 55 years. Completing his education in the county schools, Mr. Huston qualified as a public accountant and was for some time connected with the accounting departments of large concerns. He returned to his home county twelve years ago to become deputy controller.

Voters and workers are cordially invited to visit headquarters in the Federal Home Building, opposite the courthouse, at any time.

GERMAN CABINET SWAYING TOWARD EARLY COLLAPSE

By United Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Chancellor Gustav Stresemann's precarious coalition cabinet appeared slipping toward a downfall today. All signs indicated the coalition soon will be replaced either by a reactionary regime or an actual dictatorship, probably with Stresemann at its head. It was freely forecast that if the chancellor fails to persuade the Socialists to abandon their demand that he lift the third stage of dictatorship the Socialists will leave the cabinet. Stresemann did not reject their departure. The chancellor, it is said, is anxious to rule without Socialists aid.

A crisis in the near future was considered inevitable.

New German Oil Formula Rubs Out Rheumatic Pains

Remarkable Discovery Promises Relief to Rheumatic Sufferers.

German chemistry that has given to the world the boon of Aspirin for the relief of headache, pain, and rheumatism for painless dentistry, has now come forward with another scientific discovery that promises to make rheumatic pain a thing of the past for thousands who have suffered tortuous tortures.

A new combination of certain oils has been discovered, which produces a clear amber liquid that affords immediate relief from pain in many instances. It is so penetrating that it disappears within a few seconds, so that it must be entirely absorbed in the body tissue. Even in the most advanced and stubborn cases the use of this remarkable oil has shown astonishing improvement at once in many cases. Tired muscles regain life, crackling joints with the pain all gone become supple, and the annoying twinges cease.

Rheumatism, in many cases, is due to internal abscesses, such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth, which gives off poisons. These poisons are carried by the blood to the muscles and joints and this new oil is designed to neutralize these pain-causing poisons.

So astonishing have been the results from the use of this oil that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense it to rheumatic sufferers in this city, with a positive written assurance, signed by themselves to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved. All who suffer from rheumatic pains should take advantage of this liberal offer. Unless you get relief from the very first bottle, your druggist will return your money. It is called Rubber Oil, and can be had at most good druggists, such as A. A. Clarke, Connelville Drug Co., Lauchrey Drug Co., Fred H. Hummerman and C. Ray Hotal.

Demonstrations Remove "Boarders"

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 1.—The "boarder" hen in fact, disappearing from the poultry flocks of Pennsylvania. During the past summer, the extension poultry specialists of Pennsylvania State College have conducted 248 culling demonstrations on farms in 66 counties of the state. It was learned today.

More than 4,000 people attended these meetings and learned the art of determining the poor producers. Under the supervision of the specialists, these poultrymen handled more than 12,000 hens and about 11 per cent of them were doomed to the "boiling pot."

In addition to these demonstrations hundreds of flocks were culled by county agents located in 61 counties of the state. Through the series of culling demonstrations conducted during the past few years, many farmers have learned to cull their own flocks and many are reported to have gone over their birds every two weeks during the summer season. This work is bound to result in lowering the cost of egg production and increasing profits from poultry. Reports have come in that show where the egg production has remained the same after one-fourth of the hens have been culled out.

RED CROSS ADVANCING IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Extends Service to New Fields and Brings Healing Hope to Remote Sections.

"The supreme opportunity for leadership" for the American Red Cross in its health service. Thus a committee made up of prominent physicians, sanitarians and public health experts, after months of exhaustive study, reported and urged that not only should the Red Cross continue its present service, but should undertake a comprehensive of national campaign along public health lines. The annual report of the American Red Cross, just issued, discloses that it has grasped this opportunity in the fields of public health nursing, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition work, first aid to the injured and in water conserving. Health service is fundamentally, historically and practically an important function of the Red Cross, and each year marks its extension into new fields and along broader lines. In the Red Cross Nursing Service there are enrolled nearly 40,000 nurses, 20,000 of whom served during the World War. The past year Red Cross nurses were assigned to duty in isolated sections of Alaska and North Carolina and to work among the fishermen of Penobscot Bay, Me.

The Public Health Nursing Service, inaugurated by the American Red Cross in 1918, which operates chiefly in rural sections untouched by other public health agencies, has 1,033 Red Cross nurses working under the direction of chapters. This work has won so high a regard that many of the nurses are taken over by the local authorities to maintain health services for their communities. Instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick is making a steady advance. Since 1914 certificates of proficiency have been given 30,427 women who completed the Red Cross course. In the last year 26,595 certificates were awarded and 65,901 students were under the instruction of 1,054 Red Cross nurses.

The benefits derived from meals balanced to meet each person's peculiar needs is winning widespread recognition through the work of the Red Cross Nutrition Service, particularly in the schools. During the school year 2,688 carried on regular instruction in nutrition, reached more than 100,000 children and adults. More than 2,250 volunteers assisted in this work. Throughout the country 35,233 health meetings were held under Red Cross auspices, attended by approximately 254,500 persons.

TIME TO RESUME RELATIONS.

The suggestion that the time is ripe to consider the resumption of athletic relations between the high schools of Conneltsville and Uniontown ought, in the interest of both institutions and of the respective communities and county good, will be acted upon without further delay.

The present is no time to relapse into the unfortunate incidents which resulted in the breaking off of inter-school relations nor to do or say anything tending to revive the animosities which already have been kept alive too long. To citizens generally, who have no interest in promoting rivalry between the two third-class cities of the county to the point of absurdity, it appears that there has been enough pouting over the athletic situation. To such persons it further appears that it would reflect most creditably upon the school authorities of both towns to forget all that has happened in the past and to emulate the example of good neighbors by joining sincerely and heartily in fostering cordial relationship in all that pertains to the welfare of both.

We are all citizens of the same county and ought to be ready at all times to show to outsiders that we are too big to allow any petty local differences of sentiment or view to prevent us cooperating in a spirit of cordiality and county pride in putting things across that will add to the prestige or enhance the reputation of Fayette county as a place where the people value as well as practice team-work in the best sense, and participate in inter-town contests of all kinds with true sportsmanship and with the desire to "play the game for play's sake."

CONFIDENCE NOT MISPLACED.

It is apparent to all observers that there is slowing down in business. It has not assumed alarming proportions and among the many forecasters there is no disposition to utter gloomy predictions. In fact, there is strong confidence that the immediate business future will show a favorable trend and will gather strength as it progresses. That some people are a little weak in their confidence is one of the best reasons upon which to base confidence for the future. Such an attitude is causing people to be cautious with the result that the financial and business situations have none of the weak spots that made the slump of 1920 so drastic.

Prior to 1920 all lines of industry had been running at full capacity. Retailers had loaded up their shelves with goods bought at high prices. When the Democratic administration, in an effort to make good its promise to reduce the cost of living, started the deflation program, every feature of the situation was exactly right for destruction of credit and enforced bankruptcy. Both merchants and farmers were carrying heavy indebtedness which their creditors called upon them to pay. Liquidation meant heavy losses.

The lesson of 1920 has not been lost. According to all reports, retail merchants have been buying cautiously and in quantities much less than they reasonably expect to turn over without loss. Although the wheat farmers are in a bad position, other farmers are prosperous. The agricultural loans made through the War Finance Corporation have been reduced from $350,000,000 to about $100,000,000. Loans from banks have been reduced and the farmers' burden lightened. Savings banks accounts have increased throughout the country. In farming regions as well as in industrial centers. The people of the country have been providing resources against a period of adversity, and this makes all the more unlikely the occurrence of such a misfortune.

Current trade reports show freight car loadings at the present time more than 15 per cent greater than at the same time last year, the increase being recorded in every class of commodities except coal and coke. The largest increase is in forest products, which indicates a continued use of timber in construction. The freight car surplus is below normal, indicating the increase activity of cars, and this is made more significant by the report of a larger proportion of freight cars in serviceable condition. Building permits for September, 1923, were $11,000,000 greater than for the same month of 1922.

Of course, the situation is not without its disappointing features. In this section coke production is at the lowest ebb during the past 11 months and the coal trade is unsatisfactory both as to demand and prices. The wheat farmers of the country at large are keeping company with the oil producers who are suffering the steady decline in prices, due to surplus production, as in the case of wheat.

But in no section of the country is there any complaint of unemployment. In fact, there continues to be a shortage in several lines and there is clamor for removal of the restrictions on immigration in order to allow the admission of more European laborers, a demand which makes no appeal to the Republican Administration. The people not having engaged in any extravagant buying at high prices, there is no danger of a "buyers' strike" to start an industrial reaction. This will come about in an orderly way and the confidence now had in the future will be found not to have been misplaced.

Education and Future America

EDITORIAL NOTE: America will be concentrated to self-development during National Education Week beginning November 15. President Coolidge officially has proclaimed the annual observance of Educational Week in his proclamation the President stated: "Every American citizen is entitled to a liberal education. With it, there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope of perpetuating self-government. Dependence flows from lack of education. Knowledge, courage and freedom go hand in hand." The leaders of virtually every kind of thought in America, in a series of articles contributed exclusively to the United Press, have stressed the value and meaning of education. The first of these articles, contributed by General John A. Pershing, chief of staff and general of the armies of the United States, appears today.

BY GEN. JOHN A. PERSHING
(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Education Week presents the opportunity for a concerted attack on the problem of training young America. It is unique in that it is not to be solved solely by studying the traditional schools, for the spirit of liberty has here created a republic where those basic human virtues—common honesty, common sense, common neighborly good-will, common family affection—may express themselves freely in national cooperation for the common good.

In pioneer days men had relatively little formal schooling, but much real training in winning a continent and making it habitable. Men learned to rely on themselves and to work individually in carving out their own careers. Now conditions have changed. The era of "big business" is here. Men work in large groups, where cooperation, team-play and specialized skill are all important. Education must take account of these facts. It is to develop men capable of building the America of the future.

By way of further analysis and definition of the problem, the following questions are worthy of careful consideration during Education Week. How can the spirit of national service, which bursts forth with such intensity in an emergency, be released and kept active all the time? What can be done to bring up young Americans who realize their interdependence, are eager and know how to cooperate intelligently and play the game for the welfare of all? What educational methods are effective in liberating individual initiative while training youngsters to work together for the achievement of a single purpose? How can conditions be created in which sane leaders—the greatest need of a democracy—will emerge and lead?

That practical answers can be given to these questions was demonstrated beyond all doubt by the magnificent action of the nation during the war. Though our people are individualists and keenly jealous of personal freedom, their cooperation, their self-discipline, their team-play in the emergency were superb. They have all the power that comes from coordinated effort. Education will prove worthy of the boundless trust people place in it when it trains lovers of liberty to work intelligently together for permanent peace.

Everyone who is studying the significance of passing events must recognize the vital import of this fundamental problem. The future of our country and even of the world will be profoundly affected by the manner in which it is solved practically in school work. The results will determine whether we shall dissipate our energies in endless conflicts among many minorities and blocs, each seeking special privileges for itself, or whether we shall move forward like a mighty army in peace as we did in war, pledging our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor to the achievement of a nobler nation and a better world.

No Cancellation

Detroit Free Press.

President Coolidge has shown a great deal of firmness and good sense in his administration of the duties of his office, up to this time. He increases the impression that he is equal to his job and that the welfare of the country is safe in his hands by his notice to the heads of the American Bankers' Association that they are due to get nothing but hard opposition from the White House for their projected campaign in favor of cancellation of the debts which the Europeans owe this country.

However a few financiers, who consider their special interests, may feel about it, the people of America as a whole have great sympathy with any debt cancellation scheme. They are committed overwhelmingly the other way. America does not desire to be hard on Europe.

Even if cancellation might be considered under some circumstances, it certainly would be an error approaching folly for Washington to forgive the debts of people that are showing no evidence of any feeling of moral responsibility for their obligations to this country that are not even making perfunctory efforts to balance their budgets with a view to regaining a condition of solvency, but are openly spending all the spare money they can get their hands on in order to further mad imprudent schemes, build up armaments and prepare for war.

It may be that the United States is not going to get some of the money

THE PERILOUS POSITION OF THE AMERICAN FARMER

By MORRIS

due to, either now or hereafter, but that in no reason why American conditions deteriorate, especially where by so doing it may easily become an necessary before the fact of a new European war.

As far as the argument that we must help the Old World by erasing its debts or see our foreign trade suffer is concerned, surely this country can not be expected to believe that it will permanently improve its commerce by pauperizing its customers.

Time for Caution

Philadelphia Bulletin.

On the principle that a stitch in time saves nine, Director Spencer of the Department of Public Health, calls attention to the approach of the season when influenza may be expected to increase and entreats the public to take such precautions as experience has shown to be the most helpful against this disease in particular and all pulmonary ailments.

Ventilation is emphasized by Dr. Spencer as most important, especially of places in which large numbers of people are closely crowded together. It is not believed by sanitarians, and physicians in general that heavy air of itself does anything more harmful to human beings than to make them feel "foggy," but where many people are assembled together indoors for any length of time, disease germs are spread about by "human carriers" and the susceptibility become infected. Fresh air will sweep many of these bacilli from street cars, factories, offices, etc., reducing the hazard of infection.

Provident living, the avoidance of excesses of all kinds, such as overeating, warm but light clothing, houses not too hot, and plenty of rest and sleep, are elementary rules for health, but ones worth practicing, summer or winter. Pneumonia has become something of a scourge and it is only sensible not to neglect a cold. Too often have colds which have been regarded as trivial developed into pneumonia, with a fatal termination. Dr. Spencer also points this is the fifth anniversary of the great influenza epidemic, which took toll of so many lives in Philadelphia and throughout the world, but he does not suggest any expectation of such a visitation this winter.

DOUBLE-STRENGTH.

He who has a friend has this:
Comradeship for sunny days;
Something to laugh and prance with.
One to speak his name with praise.

He who has a friend may be
Pierced of pain and weep by care,
But he's rich in this: that he
May his comrade's fortune share.

He who has a friend may weep
For some gentle spirit flows
Which he loved but could not keep,
But he will not mourn alone.

He who has a friend may fall
Hearts and bodies in the fight,
But his friend will stand near him still
And still seek him through the night.

He who has a friend may know
For the work he has to do,
Whomsoever he may need,
That he is of the length of two.

He who has a friend through good or bad,
Is two beginning to the end,
Who is the more of his own aid,
At the treasure of his friend.

OCTOBER ORDERS FOR STEEL AT A HIGHER RATE THAN IN SEPT.

Recent Buying May Have Been Handicapped by Month Character Production 20 Per Cent Under April.

SPECIAL TO THE WEEKLY COURIER.
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Steel mills, taken as a whole, booked shipping orders at a slightly higher rate in October than in September. While September was a poor month to compare with, anything other than a distinct decrease in the volume of business would be contrary to the expectations entertained in many quarters. The outstanding feature of the steel situation is that it is proving better than was expected.

Practically all buying of late has been of hard to month character so that the buying is to be credited to actual requirements and not to hopefulness as to the future. When some shipments may be accepted because they are at lower prices than now ruling, being against very old contracts, this class of business becomes a smaller and smaller factor week by week. Present steel mill operations are maintained chiefly by current and recent orders.

Steel production is at about 20 per cent under the peak rate of April, which was an unexpectedly high rate, and thus the present rate, which must be more or less in keeping with current consumption, is a high rate. It is about one-fourth above the average rate in the four years after the war. The general sentiment in the steel trade, or the tone of the market, has undergone distinct improvement in the past week or two, but the favorable feeling refers only to the course of affairs to what is called the end of the year, though the middle of December might be a more accurate expression. There is likely to be a decided decrease in production and shipments in the last week or two of the year.

Steel prices are being held without any particular difficulty. There is a noticeable absence of predictions that prices will hold after January 1. It is possible that mills will purposely make moderate concessions to stimulate a buying movement and then stiffen up again to help the movement along, according to familiar practice. There are no signs that mills are planning for heavy production this winter.

ASSIGNED CARS NEEDED BY MAKERS BY-PRODUCT COKE

Is Testimony of Steel Company Officials Before Commerce Body.

INSURE STEADY SUPPLY

Testimony of a number of executives of iron and steel concerns owning private railroad cars was completed Monday before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the rehearing of the assigned car case, in which the witnesses protested against any order limiting free use of privately owned railroad cars at any time, declaring that cars owned by producers are of urgent need in times of peak demand, says the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Daily Free Trade. Following the testimony of the iron and steel men, coal associations and individual coal operators submitted their evidence.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, offered testimony showing the use of industrially owned railroad cars is essential at all times to the best service to consumers and to the transportation of their fuel to the mills. Mr. Schwab declared privately owned cars provide a solution to the question of a steady and constant operation of the Bethlehem company's blast furnaces and other departments. This testimony was reiterated by Mr. Campbell, who stated that since 1920 the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company had no prolonged period of obtaining fuel for the concern's needs and it is possible to obtain the special grade of fuel needed for by-product coke production without serious difficulty.

Similar statements were made on the stand by Robert Holman, president of the Steel company of Canada, Ltd., who pointed out that the question of getting the proper kind of fuel for the Canadian concern was made more imperative by the fact that the coal for the by-product coke ovens is mined in West Virginia fields, shipped to Lake Erie ports and car-carried across the lakes, all of which is facilitated by means of the 100 cars owned by the company. John M. Gross, traffic manager of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and W. B. Prescott, coal and coke agent of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, also were witnesses. Harry Conley, partner of McKanda, Mather & Company, also submitted testimony.

L. C. Whiter, traffic manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, testified concerning operations of United States Steel Corporation plants and their means of getting fuel. He said the subsidiary plants of the corporation own 5,200 cars and the fuel problem particularly as it affects the question of getting the right kind of fuel when needed most, has been greatly facilitated by the use of private cars and through the assigned car practice.

Mr. Schwab declared the original outcry for private railroad cars has been made up by the service obtained, but Mr. Campbell stated the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company charges off 2 1/2 cents to three cents a ton for each ton of coal transported in company cars for amortization. He explained that while the use of these cars is practical in many steel concerns and others, they only are of important value when cars must be kept moving from sources of raw materials to the plants.

Avoid the Discomforts of Winter

The man who spends most of his time inside does not require as heavy underwear as the man of the outdoors. The selection of underwear best suited to your particular needs goes a long way toward real comfort and protection from colds. To get a garment that will protect you and at the same time "feel right" is the garment a host of people are looking for. Union Supply Company's lines for men, women, and children are second to none in this respect. Only the best makes are carried. In our stocks you will find a good selection of materials—cotton, wool, mixtures, and mercerized—in light, medium, or heavy weight. These suits are made to fit snugly. They will retain their shape after repeated washings; they will not bind; the buttons stay on—just about perfection in underwear, we believe. Two piece suits for those who prefer them. Get yours today and be ready for the first breath of winter.

Says Allenrhu Surely Conquers Rheumatism

Winchester, Ky.—Citizen Cheerfully
Recommends—This Wonderful
Remedy to All Sufferers.

His letter follows: "Burns Avenue, Winchester, Ky. I had severe rheumatism for three months; tried several remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. A friend advised me to try ALLENRHU as it had cured him. I bought three bottles from the George Drug Co., this city. When I began taking this medicine I was unable to do any work. I could neither dress myself nor raise my hand to comb my hair. I am now almost well and feel confident this last of the three bottles I am now taking will completely cure me. I can cheerfully recommend this truly wonderful remedy to any rheumatic sufferer." Signed, Asa B. Kover.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and where the patient was helpless. Druggists guarantee the first pint bottle to show appreciable results or money back in every instance. Connelville Drug Company and Union Drug Company can supply you.—Advertisement.

Need Experts to Care for Mothers And Their Babies

DETROIT, Nov. 1.—The death of the general public so much in demand expert medical care for mothers before, during and after the birth of children and for such infants will be willing to pay a surgical fee was advocated today by Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell, Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Chicago, before the first annual meeting of the American Child Health Association.

Dr. Cornell's subject was "How to Reduce the Mortality in Early Infancy," and in it he discussed the inadequate number of specialists in obstetrics—there are only 145 in the United States—an average of only one to each 17,000 births.

"Lack of preparation by the medical profession and by mid-wives is a factor in the rate of infant mortality," he declared.

"In the field of surgery 3,177 physicians limit their practice entirely to this branch, while 6,810 practice surgery. In the latter field the public has demanded service and gets it. The inevitable result of lack of demand is that few physicians will devote themselves to the arduous tasks imposed by obstetrics, consequently they pay little attention to the study of the intricate subject."

"From a purely commercial standpoint one could expect as much, he continued. 'The average fee paid today by women for a confinement case is around $50. This includes pre-natal care, laboratory work, attendance at birth and more or less post-natal care. This hardly covers the "over-head" on a case, let alone a profit."

"For such fees few men can put their heart and soul into the work, especially in view of the fact that the average fee for appendicitis is $100. No laborer will work long on a job where he cannot make a living and a profit. Educate the public to pay surgical fees for obstetrics and to demand expert service."

One suggestion made by Dr. Cornell was heard with interest. "Why not start a campaign like that waged against tuberculosis and now waging against cancer and venereal disease?" he asked. "Why not issue a small booklet with each marriage license? Issue instructions to both prospective husband and wife relative to the importance of the care needed in obstetrical cases."

MOTHER! Children Cry for "Ketcher's Castoria"

North Polar Regions Are Becoming Warmer

By GUS M. GETHM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The North Polar regions are growing warmer.

That's why the north temperate zone has had so much rain during the last two summers, experts declare. Explorers who have been threading their way about the icy regions recently report they first noted the moderation of the weather several years ago.

Adventurers into frozen Northlands declare they have even noticed flora and fauna much farther north than heretofore and they have been able on recent trips to penetrate further and farther before leaving the open and iceless seas.

The Norwegian explorer and geologist, Dr. Roal, in 1922, discovered coal deposits on the eastern side of Advent Island on the island of Spitzbergen. He was able to navigate in free waters as far north as 82½ degrees and noted the Gulf Stream that far north as a surface stream.

Another Norwegian captain who has been cruising around the eastern polar seas for 34 years reports the ice-melting in far northern regions was noted by him as early as 1913. Many regions have changed entirely in the meantime, he declares. Where formerly only ice and glacial formations were to be seen explorers now find earth and stone sticking out and many peninsulas of ice have disappeared altogether. This explorer reported new plant growths in hitherto icebound regions.

Recent summers have been exceptionally bad for seal hunters, these fur-bearing polar animals remaining far north, avoiding their usual haunts along the Spitzbergen coast on account of the warmer waters.

AUTHOR HONORED BY NATIVES

Samoa Ordered Not to Fire Gun Within Earshot of Robert Louis Stevenson's Grave.

James Chalmers, English Papuan missionary, who was killed and eaten by cannibals at Goubari, met Robert Louis Stevenson on a Pacific steamboat when the novelist was fleeing to Samoa to escape death from tuberculosis. After meeting Chalmers, Stevenson was always an out-and-out defender of foreign missions. "Perhaps that masterpiece of plot which Stevenson wrote to punish the producers of Father Damien was inspired by his chance meeting with James Chalmers," writes Arthur Porritt, in "The Best I Remember."

All the time he was in Samoa Stevenson was the friend of the mission, and he took their view as to the proper treatment of the natives.

Now that he has died the Samoan natives respect Stevenson's memory by a beautiful regulation. "By order of the chiefs on native must discharge a gun within earshot of Vallina," says Mr. Porritt, "lest the birds that sing around poor R. L. S.'s lonely grave might be frightened and suspend their requiem."

END IN SIGHT

"I am not going to talk this evening," said the speaker. "I've been cured of that. The other night I was making a speech when a man entered the hall and took a seat right in the front row. I had not been talking an hour when I noticed he was becoming edgy. Finally he arose and asked: 'Shay, how long you been lecturing?'"

"About four years, my friend," I replied.

"Well," he remarked, "as he sat down, 'I'll stick around; you must be near through.'"

The Seven Sleepers.

Seven noble youths of Ephesus, who, according to an early Christian legend first related by Gregory of Tours, fled from the city, during a persecution under the Emperor Decius (249-251 A. D.), and took refuge in a cave on Mount Collon. There they were discovered by their pursuers, who waited up the entrance in order to starve them to death; but, owing to a remarkable interposition in their behalf they were caused to fall into a deep sleep, and were thus miraculously preserved for nearly two hundred years. They died soon after awakening, and their bodies were transferred to Marcellus, France, in a stone sarcophagus, which is still shown to visitors to the church of St. Victor, in that city. According to Gregory, the names of the "seven sleepers" were Constantine, Dionysius, John, Maximian, Melchus, Martinian or Marcellin, and Serapion. A festival in their honor is celebrated in the Roman Catholic church July 27. The legend of the "Seven Sleepers" is widely current in the East. It is of Syrian origin, and occurs in the Koran.

New Kind of Plow.

Despite the development of most farm machinery, the plow has changed little in more than 5,000 years. In primitive times plows were drawn by man power or oxen, today they are efficiently operated by tractor. But the actual shape of the plow and the method of turning the furrows in the soil is much the same as in primitive times.

A unique farming tool has been invented in France which attacks the problem in a new way. The plow is replaced by a number of metal fingers which dig deep into the earth, break it up and prepare it for planting, all in one operation. The labor of plowing and cultivating is thus done quickly and efficiently. The new device seems to work equally well in hard, dry or soft ground and promises an important saving of labor for the farmer, according to accounts.

Reason Why a Top Spins.

Every one who has ever whirled a stick to which a stone is tied and the stone tried to get away. Every part of a spinning top is trying to fly away from the center. As each particle of the top has an equal pull, none of them can upset the balance of the others. So long as this force is strong enough—that is, so long as the spin lasts—it counteracts the ordinary power of gravity, which has to confine itself to the tug of the stone. The only point actually touching the earth. When the top slows down the centrifugal force relaxes, gravity comes into its own again—and the top falls over. Scientific American.

J. A. SHENBOWER.

Word has been received here of the death of J. A. Shenbower, well-known Baltimore & Ohio telegraph operator at Rockwood, Wednesday morning at his home following an illness of pneumonia. He was the son of A. J. Shenbower of Rockwood and had spent virtually all his life at Rockwood and Rockwood. Besides his father he is survived by two sisters, Mary, married, of Rockwood, and Rita, married, and residing in the West. He was a nephew of J. M. Shenbower and a cousin of Mrs. Charles Lloyd, Mrs. A. B. Nicholson, Mrs. Frank E. Krugger and Mrs. Lafayette Eicheberger, Elsie May and Silas May, all of Connelville.

The funeral service will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the deceased's father.

MRS. MARGARET STEHLE.

The funeral service for Mrs. Margaret Stehle was held Wednesday afternoon at her late home in Connelville. Rev. J. H. Lamberth, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, officiated. A quartet composed of Mrs. William H. Adams, Mrs. J. J. Kimmery, Mrs. J. Luckey and Mrs. T. J. Wright sang. Among the out of town relatives present were: Fred Stuble, Wheeling, W. Va.; James Speelman and children, Jones Mills; Arthur Speelman and children, Bridgeport; Fred Dehl, Salisbury; W. G. Stout, Mount Union, and C. H. Herbert, Dawson. The pallbearers were Fred Dehl, Foster Manning, Chas. Thurner, Robert Kling, Anthony Hiltmann and Arthur Speelman. Interment was made in Chestnut Hill Cemetery.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lary, don't care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like, 15c and 30c.

The quality in Soap that beautifies

THE whole benefit of good soap is that it CLEANS. It cleanses as nothing else can. Thorough, safe, cleansing is an indispensable aid to beauty—of far more value than the ineffective amount of artificial properties in so-called medicated soaps. And the only soap that does a good job of cleansing is soap that makes a real LATHER. A rich, thick lather in cold or hot water, hard or soft.

Try Sweetheart once—you'll like it. It's lathering, tender, safe and soothing because of its sweet purity.

The very finest soap made little to make and should retail at a low price. If sold without this, Sweetheart gives you soap of the highest quality at bottom price because it is nothing but pure soap—the coloring matter, heavy perfumes, their fancy wrappings to pay for.

Oval—the hand. Non-floating because all the air is squeezed out under heavy pressure in the machine amount of soap in little cake. Delicately scented.

Just try Sweetheart—then you'll be greener or the better druggist.

Improved Underground Management Necessary In Mining Bituminous

Is Conclusion of Experts of the United States Coal Commission.

LOADING BY MACHINERY

Offers Greatest Opportunity for Reducing Costs and Making Regular Work for Employees; Mine Foreman Is Important but Cannot do All.

As a result of its engineering study on Underground Management in Bituminous Mines, the United States Coal Commission believes that reductions can be made in the cost of production through improvement of operating methods, without any reduction in wage rates, by the:

Development and efficient application of mechanical devices to replace hand loading;

Better control and coordination of underground operations, particularly cutting, loading, and hauling;

Standardization and coordination of the work of the individual mine worker.

Standardization of details of construction and dimensions of mine cars, locomotives, track and all other equipment; and

Multiple shifting of work in the mines and preparation plants, thus obtaining greater production with the same plant investment.

The report was prepared by Sanford E. Thompson of Boston in consultation with Howard N. Eaveson of Pittsburgh and assisted by George T. Hallowell under the direction of C. E. Foshier and Raymond A. Walter, engineers of the Coal Commission. Confining themselves strictly to underground management the experts found the following features to be of vital importance to the future of bituminous coal mining:

"Development of machinery to replace the irksome and skillful operation of hand loading. In this lies the greatest opportunity, not only for lowering costs but for the improvement of mining conditions and the reduction of accidents. The importance of this can be realized when it is appreciated that with the introduction of machine loading and the incidental developments accompanying their installation, the total cost of coal at the mine in many cases may be reduced, as shown by actual operating results, by as much as 20 per cent of the present costs. Assuming such reduction possible in only one-half of the bituminous mines the actual net saving in money value would amount to over $200,000,000 per year.

"Control of underground operations. With the introduction of machinery, and also in hand loading mines, the progress must be toward functional methods of planning and control of the work of the men and machines, corresponding to modern methods in other industries. Instead of leaving the distribution of miners' cars to the motorman or assistant foreman, instead of a hit-or-miss supervision of cutting machines and company men, more definite planning and control of transportation and of all other underground operations is needed. This must include not merely a morning schedule such as is now thought out in some mines, but a positive control continued throughout the day to include not only the directing of the mine cars to the mine and of the locomotive trips but also the correlation of the operation of cutting machines and all company work with the loading. Increase in output at the mine will naturally follow such developments, also a saving in overhead and gradual cost reduction with increased contentment of the workers through elimination of lost time.

"Improvement in the work of the individual. Analyses of the operations and determinations of the best methods and times for accomplishment will result in larger performance of company men, will provide a basis for the more thorough coordination of the work, reduction of idleness, systematic handling of dead work, development of standards of production for company men as well as loaders, and eventually balanced earnings, not from the standpoint of uniform wages and piece rates as at present, but designed to give each man a square deal in rewarding individual performance.

"Standardization of equipment, such as mine cars, motors, weight and gauge of track, electrical equipment, etc., with determination of the best for the individual mine.

"The effect of improved underground management on the miners is strikingly illustrated by comparison of two mines thirty miles apart, same district, same seam, similar physical conditions, similar railroad car supply, both union mines. In the one, plenty of miners are available at all times; in the other, such scarcity that the mine is running only at part production. The difference lies in the methods of managing the underground operations, the distribution of mine cars, the coordination of cutting machines, handling of the dead work, supervision of company men. And yet this better managed mine, and in fact even the larger and better equipped mines throughout the various fields are found, at least in underground methods, to be generally backward in comparison with management progress in some of the other major lines of industry.

"While the social and family features of the miner life are governed by mine conditions, his contentment during his working hours, and the regularity of his remuneration while mining operating, depend upon the underground management. With the advent of electric haulage, electric lights, ventilation and safety appliances, management methods more and more are being recognized as properly controlling, in a measure formerly considered impossible, the effect of varying physical conditions in the mines.

"The profits of the operator, also, to a larger extent than is generally recognized, are dependent upon his management of the mine; assuming for example a 15c profit per ton; if he can reduce his cost of mining only 5c per ton, with the same selling price he automatically increases his profit one-third. The consumer benefits as soon as such cost reductions become general, or even before, as the seller reduces his prices in competition.

"The bituminous coal mining industry is just entering the last stage of reducing manual labor through the introduction of machinery. The first stage was the use of undercutting machinery. The importance of the problem, both to the workman in lessening his toil, and to the consumer in reducing the cost of coal, is evident when we consider that some 7 per cent of the cost of coal at the mine is labor and more than one-half of this labor is for cutting and loading coal into the mine cars.

"From this transition there will, of course, result a decrease in the quantity of human labor at any given point or for a given production. This is inevitable and desirable. However, unlike the introduction of automatic machines, such as spinning frames, into industry, the transition will naturally be slow because of the necessity of adapting machinery to the physical condition of different mines. Furthermore, instead of requiring less skilled labor the miners left will be of a higher type, requiring greater initiative than demanded by the pick and shovel, which are now the principal tools of the coal miner. Furthermore, the surplus labor, if any, will not go a begging. There is a scarcity in other industries of men trained to such work as shoveling coal.

"This change will gradually come to the industry, as will also the development of coal storage, resulting in more regular and lower cost of production. Development of enough low cost operations to supply the demand will automatically eliminate the high cost mine, the snow-birds and the wagon-mine which under existing conditions in periods of car shortage absorb so large a portion of the transportation service as to lower the working time of the better mines thus unduly increasing their costs also."

The greatest advance in mining, the experts believe, will result from the more general use of combined cutting and loading machines. "The saving in cost of mining," says the report, "is only one of the merits of the loader. Its value to the miner himself is of great moment because it eliminates the hardest and most lonesome work in the mine—shoveling—and second, of even greater importance, it increases safety through concentrating and speeding up the work. The latter advantage becomes important as the capacity of the loading machine increases."

"Picture the difference in the operation of a hand and a machine loading mine. In the hand loading mine in seven foot coal we get an output from a given section of 400 tons. We have some 30 to 40 hand loaders working in as many rooms, in a territory of say 25 acres. These men advance in their rooms perhaps for four months until the maximum length of around 300 feet is reached.

"With machine loading, using a large loader in seven foot coal, even with the room and pillar method of development, which probably can be improved upon—the area operating at one time, for a section of a mine yielding a 400 ton output, can be reduced to some three acres or less than one-eighth the area of the hand loading mine producing the same output. With a small loading machine this ratio is considerably greater. The necessary acreage in all varies with the thickness of the coal.

"This means that the foreman, instead of making an occasional visit to the mine, say once or twice a day, is in constant touch with all of the men, he can inspect the shoveling, he can see to the most economical shoveling, he can regulate and follow up the company men, he can supervise the track and maintenance work, and especially he can be in such close touch with all the men that accidents must inevitably be reduced to a minimum, while at the same time all of the work progresses more rapidly and at less cost. Further than this, through the fact that the room is excavated in say, one month or maybe a half instead of four months and recovery of pillars can be made so much more rapidly that the danger of falls is lessened to a remarkable degree, timbering may be reduced in amount and less coal is wasted.

"Of paramount importance from the standpoint of conservation is this larger recovery it is estimated by operators using them that the introduction of large loading machines has increased their recovery by as much as five to ten per cent.

The gains from the use of loading machines are summarized as follows: "Loading is performed at a fraction of the time and cost of hand loading; undercutting can be performed more systematically and efficiently; drifting is done by electric drills; hauling is simplified and trips can be scheduled more definitely and haulage costs reduced; timber is reduced in amount; roof falls less readily because of speed of progress and, in long wall work, less working room required; concentration of workings produces large tonnages in small areas. Inspection and supervision is more effective because of smaller active area.

"Cost of track equipment and maintenance is reduced by lower tonnage of long wall, no rows of all; cost of drainage is reduced by the smaller active area; cost of ventilation is reduced for similar reasons; cost of plant construction per ton and maintenance is reduced through larger production per man waste of coal will be assumed by larger recovery; safety—the most important factor in mining—is increased. This is due to concentration of area worked, and closer supervision.

"The mine foreman with his long experience in mining, must continue to function, but his efforts and his knowledge of mining must be supplemented by the aid of specialists experienced in applying engineering analysis and planning, to problems of management, for it is a physical impossibility for him to devote sufficient time to make these analyses. It is readily apparent that they are needed, and in no place is this more evident than in the control of underground haulage.

"The problem of underground haulage is a transportation problem complicated by the fact that all its terminals except the track to the tipple are continually advancing, and the number and location of its advance terminals change from day to day. Whether the problem is simple or not, as viewed from the standpoint of movement of material in other industries, underground haulage cannot be expected to run itself and this is practically the condition of operation in the majority of mines visited, notwithstanding the fact that these mines were among the best in the various regions studied. Generally the foreman is not equipped by training to handle the transportation systematically. Even when he has the training it is but little time for his other duties to properly direct haulage."

Why Suffer From Bronchial Asthma?

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy.

Just because you start the day tired, lifeless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable asthma—do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidizer, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass., physician.

For any form of Asthma where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, the hoarse, rattling sound in really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breathe at night and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidizer gives.

Oxidizer is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient inhales in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a restful comfortable night's sleep.

It is sold by leading druggists including A. A. Clarke, Connellsville Drug Co., who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidizer a trial. It is harmless and instantaneous—Advertisement.

Beautifying Milady's Coiffure Creates Huge Industry

INSURING PERFECTION

"The coiffure is the highlight of woman's beauty," said the late Sarah Bernhardt. Milady is realizing the wisdom of these words, for beauty experts, for the hair-dress is given more attention today than ever before. And the cost of maintaining a lovely coiffure, they say, is in no way comparable to the $750,000,000 spent annually in America on perfume and cosmetics.

The amazing rise of the hair net industry offers a singular insight on the present tendency for "beautifying" in coiffure. The hair net, designed a few years ago, is now almost as much of a necessity as gloves or shoes. Even its seasons are sharply defined. Beauty experts decree that the double strand net be worn only for summer, outdoor life such as golfing or motorboating. In winter it is replaced by the single strand or dress net which, being invisible under the glare of theater or drawing-room lights, does not detract from the charm of coiffure but enhances the life-like hair. Women of refinement wear hair nets as they wear rings and powder. In an inconspicuous way. Except for the coarser net is wholly out of place. To ensure "woman's crown of glory" some three million gross of nets are required annually. Armies of workers are employed in this country and in the Orient to provide the fifty million Gainsborough nets used in America in a year. These nets, unlike any other, are given the French process of sterilizing and dyeing to preserve natural oil and retain the original luster. The industry's phenomenal rise is reflected with sales of commercial romance and adventure tales that are oiled through China, Japan and Siberia.

Production Brought Below 200,000 Tons for the First Time During Past 11 Months

Reduction Last Week 7,110 Tons, Both Operating Interests Contributing.

838 OVENS ARE BLOWN OUT

Cutting the Active List to 41.5 Per Cent of the Region's Equipment, as Compared With 30.3 Per Cent Year Ago, When Strike Was Being Fought.

From The Associated Press.

Through the persistent adherence to their policy of bringing production of coke into closer agreement with the market demand, operators of the region last week succeeded in reducing the regional total below 200,000 tons for the first time for the past 11 months. During the week ended November 25, 1932, the effects of the sympathy strike had been so far neutralized that production had reached 201,100 tons. Last week it dropped to 194,220 tons, or 23,650 tons below that in the first week of the year when 217,870 tons were produced.

A year ago both producing interests were striving with might and main to shake off the strike incubus and swell production. For almost two months past they have had the common motive of taking the swelling out of production. In some respects the latter operation has been more painful than the former, having been performed without the employment of the assistance of an immediately cheering prospect that the patient would be the better for the operation. A year ago there was the stimulus of constantly improving conditions. For eight or 10 weeks past there has been the constant urge to make less coke from waste to make under the penalty of accumulating a large assortment of cars all loaded up but with no place to go.

The effort to reduce output continues to occupy the attention of both the merchant and the furnace operators. For the fifth consecutive week the proportions by which the respective groups of operators have reduced production has been very nearly equal. The decline of 7,110 tons last week followed the 7,110 tons last week and last week, or 23,650 tons below that in the first week of the year when 217,870 tons were produced.

The blowing out of ovens figured largely again last week, the total added to the inactive list having been 338, 666 at furnace and 172 at merchant plants. The sale of 238 furnace ovens during the preceding week was short lived, the resumption of drawing at Denbo leading but two days then followed by the complete suspension of operation, both on the yard and in the mine.

It is a noticeable fact of the restriction program that the furnace ovens, the product of which does not enter the market, have been blown out more freely than the merchant ovens. Since September 1, when the active stage of the curtailment began, the furnace ovens in blast have been cut down from 14,519 to 9,225, a loss of 5,294 ovens, or 36 per cent. The merchant active list has lost out 1,222 ovens, or 10 per cent.

The extent to which the operation of the region has been affected by the curtailment measures is shown by comparison with the corresponding week of 1932. Then the region was taking its first uncertain steps toward recovery from the strike. Some progress had been made, but only enough to indicate that the strike had been definitely broken. Furnace output had reached 190,110 tons, or only 9,990 tons below that of last week. The merchant active list was then making 50,670 tons, or 50 per cent less than they made a week later. The region as a whole was running 140,665 tons, or 59.3 per cent of its equipment. Last week the active quota was but 41.5 per cent.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, October 27, was 194,220 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 107,510, a decrease of 1,278 tons; Low or Connellsville, 86,710, a decrease of 5,372 tons, or a total decrease of 7,110 tons as compared with the preceding week. The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, October 27, was 194,220 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 107,510, a decrease of 1,278 tons; Low or Connellsville, 86,710, a decrease of 5,372 tons, or a total decrease of 7,110 tons as compared with the preceding week.

By interest the production was: Connellsville, 115,300, a loss of 3,400 tons; merchant, 78,920, a loss of 3,710 tons, as compared with losses of 3,500 and 4,010 tons respectively during the week ended October 26.

Of the 838 ovens added to the idle list 666 were at furnace and 172 at merchant plants. Of the former 330 were at plants of the J. C. Frick Coke Company as follows: Colliery, 30; Hecla No. 3, Leanington No. 3, Leanington No. 4, Leanington No. 5, Leanington No. 6, Leanington No. 7, Leanington No. 8, Leanington No. 9, Leanington No. Cokers Put Through Hard Scrimmage, Then Intensive Signal Work

Four Opened by Red Ties—day Ends Made Up of Football Practice

LIGHTER WORK TONIGHT

What the Red Ties football team did tonight was to get a good workout in the practice field. The team was divided into two groups, one of which played a scrimmage with the other. The game was a hard-fought one, with both teams showing good football. The Red Ties won the game, 14-7.

The team will have a lighter workout tonight, as they will be preparing for their game against the Blue Devils on Saturday night. The game is expected to be a close one, as both teams are well-matched.

Of interest to fans, the game will be played under the lights at the stadium. This will be the first time the game has been played at night. The fans are expected to see a good game.

Walter Foster, a member of the team, was injured in a game last week. He is expected to be out for some time. The team will miss his services.

Cremont Township High played a game last night. They won the game, 14-7. The game was a hard-fought one, with both teams showing good football.

On Saturday, the team will have a game against the Blue Devils. The game is expected to be a close one, as both teams are well-matched.

Another who should be mentioned is the fact that the team has a good chance of winning the championship. They are well-matched and have a good chance of winning.

The Very Sort of Blouse You Need

- is easily found in our assortments

The inseparable companion of your pleated skirt or fall dress should be, of course, an Autumn blouse. For with its aid you can achieve a distinctive costume at a surprisingly moderate cost.

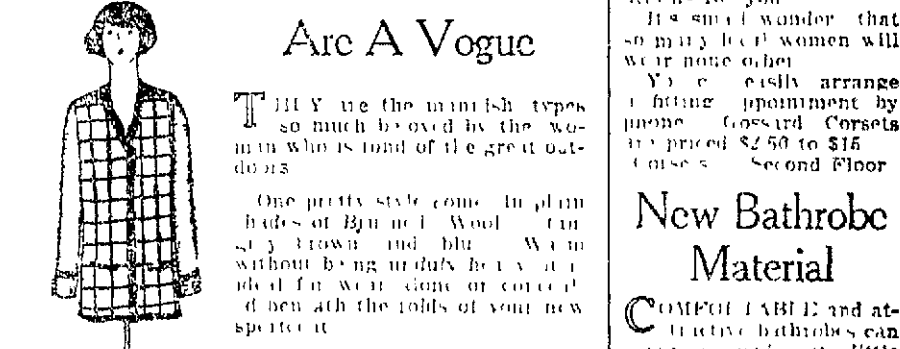

And to matter what sort of blouse you prefer in Canton, Roshomon or London, with no matter whether you like a short or long length sleeve, or whether you fancy trimmings of embroidery or beads, a blouse is ready for you here that you will call perfection. Having a Brown Thrush Pillow and Navy are the best liked shades. Prices range from $6.50 to $25.00.

Unusual - In Velvet

Very pretty velvet blouses are royally brocaded or richly embroidered in Oriental motifs. They are full fledged costume blouses. The sort that may be worn with different skirts or suits to give the effect of several different costumes. Black and brown and really exceptional in quality—at $6.50.
